California favors gay marriage, legal marijuana

Raleigh, N.C. - Though they passed Prop 8 by five points, Californians now favor legal same-sex marriage by the same margin, a ten-point reversal in three years. Further, the consensus for legal equality, which is already largely a reality with domestic partnership rights, reaches more than three-quarters supermajority support. Given the option of civil unions as well as full marriage rights, $43 \%$ of the state's voters still prefer marriage, with another $35 \%$ liking the civil-union status quo. Only $21 \%$ do not want any legal recognition for gay couples, less than half the $43 \%$ who want same-sex marriage itself to remain illegal. 85\% of Democrats, $79 \%$ of independents, and even $65 \%$ of Republicans favor at least civil unions.

Similarly, voters rejected Prop 19, which would have legalized, regulated, and taxed the sale of marijuana, by seven points last fall. But by a 48-42 margin, they now favor legalizing marijuana usage, a 13-point turnaround in one year.

Californians have almost the reverse opinion of the Occupy Wall Street movement as Americans as a whole. While only a third of Americans in PPP's latest national survey support the movement's goals, and $45 \%$ oppose them, $44 \%$ of Golden State voters support their aims, and only $35 \%$ oppose them. But Californians do not look highly upon the branch of the movement right under their noses. Only 30\% see Occupy Oakland favorably, and 48\% unfavorably.

Californians may have not soured on Sen. Dianne Feinstein or President Obama, but Gov. Jerry Brown's honeymoon is over. In January, twice as many approved as disapproved of their new/old governor's performance (50-25), but that is now down to 46-38. Sen. Barbara Boxer has emerged above water, at 46-43, versus 45-47 in January.

Voters are not keen on the idea of splitting California into two states. $27 \%$ want that, but $61 \%$ do not. At 37\%, Republicans are most in favor, and Democrats least (20\%).

PPP surveyed 500 California voters from November $10^{\text {th }}$ to $13^{\text {th }}$. The margin of error for the survey is $+/-4.4 \%$. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews. PPP is a Democratic polling company, but polling expert Nate Silver of the New York Times found that its surveys in 2010 actually exhibited a slight bias toward Republican candidates.
