Obama Leads by Five in Iowa

Raleigh, N.C. -- President Barack Obama holds a 5 point lead over Mitt Romney in PPP's latest survey of the state, 48% to 43%. This represents a drop off in support for Obama since he led the Republican challenger by 10 points when the state was last surveyed in May.

The change in the horserace corresponds almost perfectly with a drop in Obama's approval rating, which fell to -2 (47% to 49%) from +3 (49% to 46%) 3 months ago. Romney is still outperforming his dismal favorable rating, which made a modest improvement since the last poll, from -22 (34% to 56%) to -18 (37% to 55%). A shift in support among independents explains much of the change in the numbers, as Obama's lead with the important swing group has shrunk from +20 to +8.

Two well known Iowa Republicans would not help Romney's cause if he were to select one as his running mate. Governor Terry Branstad, despite a better approval rating than either top of the ticket candidate at +2, brings Romney's deficit to -7. The considerably less popular Representative Steve King also hurts Romney's chances in the state, delivering President Obama a lead of +8.

The fallout of the Supreme Court's healthcare decision continues to affect Chief Justice John Roberts' favorability rating. The top judge garners a net rating of -2, while the decision itself is at -5. The partisan trend in Roberts' approval continues in Iowa, as Democrats like him but Republicans don't.

PPP also asked Iowa voters to estimate each candidate's age. While 29% of respondents correctly put Obama, 50, in the 50-54 range, only 7% placed Romney, 65, in the 65 to 69 bracket.

"Barack Obama continues to look like the favorite in Iowa," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "But the race there is a lot closer than it was both in 2008 and on our last poll. Mitt Romney's within range."

PPP surveyed 1,131 Iowa voters from July 12th to 15th. The margin of error for the survey is +/-2.91%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
