Obama leads by 10 in Minnesota

Raleigh, N.C. - PPP's newest poll of the Presidential race in Minnesota actually finds Barack Obama expanding his lead to 10 points over Mitt Romney at $53-43$. Our last poll there in mid-September had found Obama's advantage to be 7 points at 51-44. A majority of the interviews for this poll were conducted Saturday and Sunday.

There's an overwhelming sense in Minnesota as elsewhere that Romney won last week's debate. $64 \%$ think he was the victor to only $19 \%$ who say Obama. But unlike in other places it hasn't led to a big improvement in Romney's image. Just 42\% of voters have a favorable opinion of him to $53 \%$ with a negative one. That's actually slightly worse than a month ago when he was at $43 / 51$.

Obama has a solid 53/45 approval rating. Voters trust him more than Romney both on the economy (50/44) and on foreign policy (54/41). Obama has a 49/41 lead with independents, has the advantage with both women (56/41) and men (50/45), and has at least a small lead within all four age groups.
"Mitt Romney’s received a bounce nationally after his debate victory last week but not in Minnesota," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "Barack Obama continues to lead by a healthy margin there."

In the Senate race Amy Klobuchar has expanded her already wide lead from 19 points to 26 over the last month. She's at 57\% to 31\% for opponent Kurt Bills. Klobuchar probably would have been unbeatable for any opponent. She's one of the most popular Senators in the country with $59 \%$ of voters approving of her to $27 \%$ who disapprove. But Bills has proven to be particularly weak. Last month his name recognition in the state was $41 \%$. Now it's actually dropped to 38\%. He's not making himself any better known to the voters.

PPP surveyed 937 likely Minnesota voters from October $5^{\text {th }}$ to 8th. The margin of error for the survey is +/-3.2\% This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
