Foxx tops North Carolina Republican Wish List

Raleigh, N.C. – Virginia Foxx tops the wish list of North Carolina Republicans for who they'd like as their Senate candidate next year: 17% pick her to 14% for Sue Myrick, 13% for Patrick McHenry, 11% for Renee Ellmers, 9% for George Holding, 6% for Richard Hudson, 4% for Mark Meadows, and 2% for Thom Tillis. 25% say that they prefer someone else or are unsure.

Foxx is at the head of the line because of her appeal to the 'very conservative' wing of the party. 21% of those voters prefer her to 17% for Myrick and 12% for McHenry. She has very strong support in the Triad. Moderate voters prefer McHenry with 14% picking him to 12% for Foxx and 10% for Myrick. He has strong support in the western part of the state.

It's clear at this point that Republicans really don't have any potential candidates with much of a statewide profile. The highest name recognition any of these folks has is Sue Myrick, and even she's at just 54%.

Kay Hagan leads all of these potential Republican foes at this point. Sue Myrick is the only who comes particularly close, trailing 45/44. Hagan has at least a 6 point advantage over everyone else we tested: 45/39 over Renee Ellmers, 48/40 over Patrick McHenry, 48/39 over George Holding, 49/39 over Virginia Foxx, and 48/38 over Tillis.

Hagan has a 44% approval rating, with 43% of voters disapproving of her. That close division over her job performance mirrors what we've seen for her pretty much since she took office, and it also mirrors what we saw for Richard Burr at this time four years ago.

“Republicans should have a decent chance against Kay Hagan in 2014,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “But it’s not clear whether they have any strong potential contenders- most of their prospective candidates are pretty unknown and start out trailing Hagan by wide margins.”

PPP surveyed 578 North Carolina voters, including an oversample of 462 usual Republican primary voters, from December 6th to 9th. The margin of error for the overall survey is +/-4.1%, and +/-4.6% for the GOP portion. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization.
