Ernst Maintains Small Advantage

Raleigh, N.C. - PPP's newest Iowa Senate poll continues to find a tight race with Joni Ernst slightly ahead of Bruce Braley. Ernst is ahead 44/42 when all the third party candidates are included, and 45/43 in a straight head to head. The 45/43 advantage for Ernst is identical to what we found on our last poll of the race in late August.

Even though the horse race numbers haven't changed much, this is the first time we've found Ernst with a better net favorability rating than Braley. Ernst is at -4 with $42 \%$ of voters rating her favorably to $46 \%$ with a negative opinion, numbers that are up from a 10 spread at 36/46 in August. Meanwhile Braley's numbers continue their slow declinehe has a -7 rating with $37 \%$ rating him favorably and $44 \%$ holding an unfavorable opinion, down from -4 at 37/41 last month. Braley's favorability has dropped a net 17 points from where it was when we first polled a Braley/Ernst match up in July of 2013 and he was at $+10(34 / 24)$.

Both candidates have a pretty good lock on their party base. Only 5\% of Democrats are crossing over to support Ernst, and just 8\% of Republicans are crossing over to support Braley. The key for Ernst is with independent voters- she has a 45/35 advantage with them.
"The Iowa Senate race continues to be a toss up," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "But the overall trend lines since we first began polling this race have certainly been more to Ernst’s advantage."

The Governor's race in Iowa does not appear to be making any move towards being competitive. Terry Branstad leads Jack Hatch 50/36 with the full field of candidates and $52 / 38$ in a straight head to head. Branstad is up 20 points with independents at $51 / 31$, and is winning over $17 \%$ of the Democratic vote while losing just $6 \%$ of Republicans. The horse race numbers pretty closely track with Branstad's approval numbers at 53/38. Feelings about Hatch are divided three ways with about a third rating him favorably, a third unfavorably, and a third having no opinion either way.

PPP surveyed 1,192 likely voters from September $25^{\text {th }}-28$ th. The margin of error for the survey is $+/-2.8 \% .80 \%$ of interviews for the poll were conducted over the phone with $20 \%$ interviewed over the internet to reach respondents who don't have landline telephones.
