Obama continues to lead in Florida

Raleigh, N.C. – Obama is in a decent position to once again win the key swing state of Florida. Obama leads all potential Republican opponents by a greater margin than his 51-48 victory over John McCain in 2008. Obama leads Mitt Romney by the narrow margin of 47-43 (up from 46-44 in March). Obama achieves larger margins against all others leading Tim Pawlenty 48-40, Michele Bachmann 49-40, Herman Cain 48-37, and Sarah Palin 52-40 (52-39 in March).

Obama leads despite only tepid approval among Florida voters. Only 48% of Floridians approve of Obama while 49% disapprove. As is true across the country, the unpopularity of the GOP candidates makes up for Obama's weak numbers. Bachmann, perhaps boosted by favorable coverage from her last debate, is the most popular Republican candidate, breaking close to even with a 36-37 favorability rating. She is followed by Romney at 41-45, Cain at 25-33, Pawlenty at 19-39, and Palin at 37-58.

Marco Rubio starts his term off with a decent approval rating; 42% of Florida voters approve while 35% disapprove. With Rubio's solid numbers and position in a key swing state, the eventual Republican nominee may be tempted to add him to the ticket. This is unlikely to be a big help in Florida though. Only 31% of voters say Rubio as VP would make them more likely to support the GOP, while 35% say it would make them less likely, and 34% say it would make no difference. Worse for the GOP, the tenure of Governor Rick Scott appears to be an unambiguous problem for their chances. 26% of Floridians say Rick Scott has made them more likely to support the GOP, while 40% say it makes them less likely to and 34% claim it makes no difference.

"Florida's pretty emblematic of Barack Obama's current position," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "Voters there aren't in love with him but when they look at the Republican alternatives and they look at what Rick Scott's done while in office as Governor he starts to not look so bad."

PPP surveyed 848 Florida voters from June 16th to 19th. The margin of error for the survey is +/-3.4%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews. PPP is a Democratic polling company, but polling expert Nate Silver of the New York Times found that its surveys in 2010 actually exhibited a slight bias toward Republican candidates.
