Romney maintains Florida lead

Raleigh, N.C. – PPP's tracking of the Florida Republican primary wraps up with Mitt Romney at 39%, Newt Gingrich at 31%, Rick Santorum at 15%, and Ron Paul at 11%. Our three days of tracking found very little movement in the race: Romney was at 39-40% every day, Gingrich was at 31-32% every day, Santorum was at 14-15% every day, and Paul was at 9-11% every day.

One thing Romney did a great job of was getting his voters out early. With the third of the electorate who have already cast their ballots he leads 45-32. That means Gingrich would have to win election day voters by somewhere in the 6-8 point range to pull off the Florida upset, but we find that Romney still has a 36-30 advantage with those are waiting to vote tomorrow.

Romney will win in Florida tomorrow because he's winning his core groups of support by wide margins, while holding Gingrich to single digit advantages with his key constituencies. Romney is winning moderates by 39 (53-14), seniors by 12 (46-32), and women by 12 (42-30). Meanwhile Gingrich is only up 8 with Tea Partiers (39-31) and 6 with Evangelicals (38-32), groups he won by huge margins in South Carolina.

The hubbub over Romney's tax returns early last week may have enhanced his chances in the state. We find that 66% of primary voters have a favorable opinion of 'rich people' to only 8% with a negative opinion of them. All the awareness of how rich Romney is may have sent Florida Republicans a message that Romney is someone who knows what he's doing. Gingrich erred with his proposal last week for a 'moon colony.' Only 21% of voters support his idea while 53% are opposed.

“At the end of the day in Florida we're right back where we started,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “Romney was always seen as a solid favorite in the state and for all the twists and turns over the last six months it looks like he'll win a good sized victory tomorrow just as was expected all along.”

PPP surveyed 1,087 likely Republican primary voters from January 28th to 30th. The margin of error for the survey is +/-3.0%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews. PPP is a Democratic polling company, but polling expert Nate Silver of the New York Times found that its surveys in 2010 actually exhibited a slight bias toward Republican candidates.
