Begich and Parnell looking strong for 2014 re-election bids

Raleigh, N.C. – Democrat Mark Begich and Republican Sean Parnell both appear to be in strong positions for re-election in their 2014 Alaska Senate and governor's races respectively, according to PPP's latest poll.

Voters narrowly approve of Parnell's job performance 46% to 44%, and he is much better known than his potential Democratic challengers. Parnell leads Ethan Berkowitz by 9 points (50/41), Scott McAdams by 18 points (52/34), Mike Navarre by 22 points (51/29) and Joe Paskvan by 26 points (51/25). Only 34% want Parnell to run for governor while 10% want him to run for Senate and 49% don't want him to run for either office.

Voters approve of Begich's job performance by a wider margin, 49% to 39%, and independents approve of Begich 54% to 32%. Begich also gets approval from 24% of Republican voters. If Parnell ran for Senate against Begich, the two would be tied at 48% each. Otherwise Begich leads Dan Sullivan by 6 points (47/41), Mead Treadwell by 8 points (47/39) and Sarah Palin by 16 points (54/38).

"Despite Alaska's Republican tilt, Begich remains surprisingly popular going into his re-election campaign," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "Begich and Parnell both have solid independent and crossover appeal with voters."

If Parnell stays out of the Senate race, the strongest GOP challenger to Begich would be Anchorage mayor Sullivan. He polls the strongest against Begich and also leads the hypothetical Republican primary field with 29% support, followed by 23% for Treadwell, 20% for Leman, 19% for Miller and 9% not sure or supporting someone else.

In the GOP presidential primary, the race would be wide open but the favorite would be Marco Rubio with 18% support. Next in line would be Mike Huckabee (14%), Rand Paul (12%), Chris Christie (11%), Paul Ryan (10%), Sarah Palin and Jeb Bush (9%), Bobby Jindal (6%) and Rick Perry (1%). Palin remains extremely unpopular in her home state—59% of voters disapprove of her to just 34% who approve.

PPP surveyed 1,129 Alaska voters and 537 usual Republican primary voters from February 4th to 5th. The margin of error for the overall sample is +/-2.9% and +/-4.2% for the GOP portion. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
