Chapel Hill races too close to call

Raleigh, N.C. – The race to be the next Mayor of Chapel Hill is too close to call, with Matt Czajkowski leading Mark Kleinschmidt 45-44, a difference well within the margin of error.

Chapel Hill is a community divided with 49% of voters thinking it is headed in the right direction while 51% think it's off on the wrong track. That plays itself out in the polling numbers as 75% of voters who think things are fine support Kleinschmidt while 70% who think they're not support Czajkowski.

Kleinschmidt leads 58-34 among Democratic voters, while Czajkowski has a 79-13 lead with Republicans and a 54-25 one with independents. Kevin Wolff and Augustus Cho do not appear to be real factors in the race, with each polling at 3%.

The Town Council races are too close to call as well, other than that frequent candidate Will Raymond is likely to again finish in last place. Ed Harrison leads the way with 12%, followed by Gene Pease at 11%, and Laurin Easthom at 10%. Matt Pohlman and Jon Dehart each poll at 9%, with Penny Rich at 8% and Jim Merritt at 7%. 30% of Council votes are still undecided, making it pretty plausible that any of the top seven candidates could win. Raymond is at just 3%.

Voters send mixed signals about the town's current leadership. 50% approve of Kevin Foy's job performance with 31% disapproving, solid numbers compared to most politicians these days. 49% though say they disapprove of the Town Council to just 40% approving.

Kleinschmidt and Czajkowski both have pretty solid favorability numbers. 57% of voters have a positive opinion of Kleinschmidt to 25% negative, and for Czajkowski it's a 50/31 spread.

In a race this close it will all come down to turnout and which candidate is better able to mobilize his supporters to get to the polls tomorrow.

PPP surveyed 614 likely Chapel Hill voters on October 31st and November 1st. The survey's margin of error is +/-4.0%. Other factors, such as refusal to be interviewed and weighting, may introduce additional error that is more difficult to quantify.

Complete results are attached and can be found at www.publicpolicypolling.com.
