Coloradans Support Gay Marriage

Raleigh, N.C. – A majority of Coloradans support legalizing gay marriage, and only 22% feel there should be no legal recognition at all of same sex couples, a new poll from Public Policy Polling finds. 53% of Colorado voters say same sex marriage should be legal and 40% say it should be illegal. Voters also say they would support the Colorado legislature passing a bill that would let same-sex couples form civil unions by a 62-32 margin. When asked whether they support gay marriage, civil unions but not gay marriage, or no legal recognition at all of same sex couples, 47% choose legal gay marriage, 28% say civil unions and just 22% say there should be no legal recognition whatsoever of gay couples.

“Colorado is another in a growing number of states where polls show voters are rapidly shifting towards supporting legal gay marriage,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling.

Colorado Senators Michael Bennet and Mark Udall both sport middling job approval ratings, with Bennet finding the approval of just 33% of voters and 38% disapproving. Udall does better but is still well below 50% at 40%-37%. Governor John Hickenlooper shows much better with a 57% job approval rating and just 24% disapproval. Nonetheless, voters are strongly disinclined to want him to run for President in 2016 – just 23% support the idea with 55% opposing.

Democrats look to be in position to perhaps make gains in the Colorado legislature this fall, with voters saying they would vote Democratic over Republican 47-40.

Colorado voters are closely split on the Affordable Care Act, with 40% of voters saying the Supreme Court should rule the centerpiece of Obama’s first term constitutional and 42% saying it should be found unconstitutional.

Some Democrats who say Colorado Secretary of State Scott Gessler is trying to restrict certain voters access to ballots have floated the idea of a possible recall, but the idea hasn’t yet broken through, with 20% supporting a recall, 22% opposed and 58% not sure.

PPP surveyed 542 Colorado voters from April 5th to 7th. The margin of error for the survey is +/-4.2%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
