Clinton could beat Bush and Rubio in Florida in 2016

Raleigh, N.C. – Hillary Clinton could beat Marco Rubio and Jeb Bush on their home turf in a presidential contest, according to PPP's latest poll.

In a hypothetical 2016 match-up, Clinton leads Rubio by 4 points, 50% to 46%, and she beats Bush by 5 points, 49% to 44%. Both of these modest leads are within the poll's margin of error. The main reason Clinton leads both candidates is her strong appeal among moderates, who favor her 63% to 29% over Bush and 63% to 32% over Rubio.

Clinton's +11 favorability rating (52/41) is actually lower than Rubio's +13 job approval (49/36) and Bush's +16 favorability rating (51/35). Despite their popularity at home, Florida voters don't support Rubio or Bush running for president in the next election—they oppose the idea 53% to 31% for Bush and 49% to 38% for Rubio.

In a nine-way contest, Clinton is the favorite for a whopping 65% of Democratic primary voters, followed by Joe Biden (15%), Andrew Cuomo (4%), Elizabeth Warren (4%), Deval Patrick (1%) and Mark Warner (1%). 88% have a favorable opinion of Clinton. If Clinton and Biden decide not to run, Cuomo would lead the pack with 22% support, but 48% of Democrats are not sure or would support different candidates.

“Hillary Clinton would be a force to contend with in the 2016 presidential election,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “She would clear the Democratic primary field and be tough to beat in the general election.”

In a nine-way contest, 31% of Florida GOP primary voters would choose Rubio to run for president to 26% for Bush and 11% for Huckabee. Nobody else gets above single digits.

Florida voters approve of President Obama's job performance 50% to 48% and of Ben Nelson's job performance 43% to 40%. Minting a trillion-dollar coin to avoid the debt ceiling isn't popular in Florida—54% of voters are opposed, with just 15% in support.

PPP surveyed 501 Florida voters as well as 401 usual Democratic primary voters and 436 Republican primary voters from January 11th to 13th. The margin of error for the overall sample is +/-4.4% overall, +/-4.9% for the Democratic portion and +/-4.7% for the GOP portion. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
