Kansas Voters Oppose Controversial Denial of Service Bill

Raleigh, N.C. – A new Public Policy Polling survey finds only 29% support in Kansas for the state’s proposed law allowing individuals and businesses to refuse service for same sex couples. 59% are opposed. There’s bipartisan opposition to the bill with Democrats (13/80) and independents (24/61) strongly against it and even Republicans (40/44) narrowly opposed.

“Kansas has received a lot of negative national media attention over this bill recently,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “But these numbers find it really only reflects the opinions of a few people in the legislature, and not the state’s voters as a whole.”

Opinion still remains divided over same-sex marriage and over marijuana legalization. 44% of voters think same-sex marriage should be allowed, compared to 48% who think it should not be. Yet only 32% of voters reject both marriage and civil unions for same-sex couples, and even a majority of Republicans (53%) favor either marriage or civil unions. Marijuana tells a similar story: voters oppose recreational marijuana 52/42, yet they support legalizing medical marijuana 64/29.

Rather unsurprisingly, Hillary Clinton finds herself trailing all Republicans we tested her against among Kansas voters for a 2016 Presidential matchup. She trails Jeb Bush 50/41, Chris Christie 46/39, Mike Huckabee 49/42, and Rand Paul 48/41. Given that Romney won the state by a comfortable 22 points in 2012, Clinton’s numbers represent an improvement for Democrats, but Kansas seems to be a long way away from being competitive on the Presidential electoral map.

Senator Jerry Moran can put a feather in his cap for being the only elected official we tested to have a net positive approval rating: 37% of voters approve of the job he’s doing in Congress, compared to 26% who disapprove. Voters, though, still do not agree with Moran’s stance on cutting off unemployment benefits; they think the benefits should be continued by a 61/32 margin.

PPP surveyed 693 Kansas voters, including 375 Republican primary voters, from February 18th to 20th. The margin of error for the overall survey is +/- 3.7% and for the Republican primary component it’s +/-5.1%. 80% of interviews for the poll were conducted over the phone with 20% interviewed over the internet to reach respondents who don’t have landline telephones.
