Rand Paul Continues to be Popular in Home State of Kentucky

Raleigh, N.C. – The latest PPP poll shows that Republican Senator Rand Paul is still popular in his home state. Paul has an approval rating of 47% and a disapproval rating of 39%. In a potential reelection fight against current Democratic Governor Steve Beshear, Paul leads 50/41, a strong number considering that Beshear is also popular with a 48/34 approval/disapproval rating. When asked which of the state’s Senators they prefer 44% of residents chose Paul as opposed to only 26% who prefer Mitch McConnell. Among Republicans Paul is more popular by a 56/31 margin.

Paul has additional support in a potential Presidential bid; he leads in a potential matchup with Hilary Clinton 49/43, 25% of Republicans in the state support his candidacy against the rest of a wider primary field. However, only 34% of state residents want Paul to run for President in 2016 and fewer than half, 48%, of Republicans in the state believe that Paul should run for President.

The poll contained some positive results for Democrats. If Beshear were to run for Senate in 2016 against Republican Thomas Massie he would lead 45/30 with 24% undecided. In potential matchups against Republican opposition Clinton gets mixed results. Between Clinton and Jeb Bush, Bush wins 48/43 but against Chris Christie Clinton wins 44/41, and Clinton beats Ted Cruz 46/41. Mike Huckabee beats Clinton 47/44 and Rand Paul wins 49/43 in his home state.

“Rand Paul would start in a good position for reelection even against his most formidable potential opponent,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “Kentucky could have another top tier Senate race in an open seat situation though.”

The poll also shows the state’s conservative trends, 61% of voters think same sex marriage should not be allowed. When asked about broader opinions on gay marriage, 28% are in favor of marriage and another 28% of voters support civil unions, but 41% of voters think there should be no legal recognition of a gay couples’ relationship.

PPP surveyed 991 Kentucky voters, including 383 Republican primary voters, from August 7th to August 10th. The margin of error for the overall sample is +/-3.1% and for the Republicans it’s +/-5.0%. 80% of interviews for the poll were conducted over the phone with 20% interviewed over the internet to reach respondents who don’t have landline telephones.
