Coakley ahead of Baker, other Democrats

Raleigh, N.C. – Attorney General Martha Coakley leads Republican Charlie Baker in a match-up for the 2014 gubernatorial election. Baker has the advantage over Democrats Joe Avellone, Don Berwick, Juliette Kayyem, and Dan Wolf, but trails Coakley by a 13-point margin and Mike Capuano by a five-point margin. Baker and Steve Grossman are tied.

Among likely Democratic primary voters, Martha Coakley has the highest favorability rating with 63%. In a seven-way match-up, 41% of Democratic voters choose Coakley, while 21% pick Mike Capuano. With Capuano taken out of the race, 57% choose Coakley and 10% pick Grossman.

In the Democratic portion, 71% of women had a favorable opinion of Coakley, compared to 52% of men. 18-45-year-old voters were the least cohesive group — 28% chose Coakley, but 19% chose Capuano and 19% chose Avellone.

In head-to-head match-ups for Senate, Democratic Sen. Ed Markey led Republicans Gabriel Gomez, Richard Tisei, and Bill Weld, and tied with Scott Brown.

President Barack Obama has an approval rating of 53-42, which is higher among women than men. In head-to-head match-ups, women choose Markey instead of his opponent. A majority of women have a favorable opinion of Coakley. 45% of men have an unfavorable opinion of her, while 42% are favorable. Men tend to support Baker in match-ups, while women tend to choose his Democratic opponent. Nearly 30% of Democrats have a favorable opinion of Republicans Brown and Baker.

"Martha Coakley's image has recovered a lot from 2010 and she's looking like the early front runner for Governor," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "Meanwhile voters have mixed feelings about Ed Markey but he would still trounce Gabriel Gomez in a rematch of their contest from three months ago."
