Klobuchar cruising, Franken too

Raleigh, N.C. – Amy Klobuchar’s job approval ratings are not quite as lofty as when PPP last polled Minnesota in January, but still almost twice as many of her constituents like their freshman senator as dislike the work she is doing. Because of that, she leads her four unknown potential Republican opponents by almost identical margins.

57% approve and 29% disapprove of Klobuchar’s job performance, down a tick from 61-28 four months ago. 83% of Democrats, 61% of independents, and even 25% of Republicans think she is doing a good job.

At the same time, only 15-27% of the state’s voters claim to have an opinion on any of the GOP field, with Doc Severson the best-known and most popular. 17% see him favorably and 10% unfavorably. But his relative notoriety means little, for Klobuchar still leads him by 28 points (55-27), the same deficit as has Pete Hegseth (56-28), and larger than those faced by Joe Arwood (56-29) or Kurt Bills (55-29).

Klobuchar leads by margins of 35 to 39 points with independents and takes 14-15% of the Republican vote along with 89-90% of her own party.

“Barring an unforeseen scandal, this race is over,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling.

Klobuchar’s junior colleague by two years, Al Franken, is also in good shape two years out from his first re-election bid. He has a 50-36 approval spread. In a rematch of the closely contested 2008 election in which he ousted first-term senator Norm Coleman, Franken would pad his lead to 10 points (51-41). Similarly, he would lead Tim Pawlenty by 11 points (52-41). But if he were to face Michele Bachmann, he would rout her by twice that margin, 57-35.

The Minnesota Twins are having a second terrible season in a row, but the team’s faithful—65% of the state—are strongly against firing manager Ron Gardenhire. Only 8% find that a good idea, while 58% oppose it.

PPP surveyed 973 Minnesota voters from May 31st to June 3rd. The margin of error for the survey is +/-3.1%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
