Etheridge starts with lead in NC gov. primary

Raleigh, N.C. – Given a list of seven candidates who may yet decide to run for governor, about a fifth of North Carolinians who typically vote in Democratic primaries want Bob Etheridge to be their nominee this fall, and he has a slight lead over his competitors in five other iterations of the race. But roughly two-fifths are undecided in each of these permutations, and Etheridge’s slim advantage is built mostly on name recognition.

21% would like Etheridge to be their standard bearer, while 13% prefer State Sen. Dan Blue, 10% Lt. Gov. Walter Dalton, 8% Rep. Brad Miller, 7% former State Treas. Richard Moore, 6% Rep. Mike McIntyre, and 2% State Rep. Bill Faison. A third are not sure.

Among just the candidates in the race so far, Etheridge leads with 30% to Dalton’s 24% and Faison’s 6%, with 39% undecided. Miller and Blue would be initially the most threatening to the status quo, each earning 11% and pulling Etheridge down to 24% and Dalton to 20%. Moore would start with 8% and McIntyre with 7%.

About half of these voters have an opinion on Etheridge personally, and he is the most popular as well, with 31% seeing him favorably and 19% unfavorably. But at this early stage of the race, his closest competitor is known to only 41% of voters, and others by as little as 29%. Miller is about as equally liked as Etheridge (26-15). The least known and liked was one of the first in the race, Faison, of whom 71% have no opinion; those that do fall at 9-20.

Mitt Romney has gained on Newt Gingrich in the Republican primary since last month, when Gingrich barely led Rick Santorum and Romney, 25-24-22. Now, Gingrich and Romney each earn 30% of the vote to Santorum’s 20% and Ron Paul’s 11%.

PPP surveyed 400 usual North Carolina Democratic primary voters and 819 usual Republican primary voters from February 3rd to 5th. The margin of error for the Democratic survey is +/-4.9%, and +/-3.4% for the Republican survey. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
