McCrory image plummets, voters want abortion bill vetoed

Raleigh, N.C.— For the first time in a PPP poll, North Carolina Governor Pat McCrory has a net-negative approval rating, seeing a 15-point net decline in just the last month, and 22 points over the last three. Now only 40% of voters approve of the Republican's job performance, and 49% disapprove. By comparison, McCrory's approval margins over the last few months were +6, +10, +13, and +14

This decline in public esteem is a result of the policies proposed by the General Assembly, which itself is in even worse shape than the governor. Only 20% approve of their performance, with 56% disapproving. Voters differentiate starkly between the two parties, with GOP legislators at a 35-55 favorability spread, versus the Democrats' 40-45. As a result, Democrats now lead the generic legislative ballot by a 51-42 margin, up slightly from a 48-41 edge in mid-June.

The abortion bill passed by the General Assembly last week, which McCrory promised to sign, is supported by only 34% of voters, with 47% opposing it. By a similar 48-33 margin, voters would prefer that McCrory actually veto the bill than sign it into law. 51% of independents, 64% of Democrats, and even 25% of Republicans want a veto.

North Carolinians are even more upset about the G.A.'s actions on unemployment benefits. Just 29% support the decision which resulted in 70,000 citizens being cut off from benefits on July 1st and the state becoming the first in the country to lose federal UI benefits. 55% are against this overall, including 78% of Democrats and 55% of independents but only 24% of Republicans. The legislature is also considering a bill which would not require shale gas drilling companies to disclose chemicals used in fracking. Only 13% side with the Republicans on this, and 76% are against them. There is bipartisan support for disclosure.

“The abortion bill seems to be the final straw for a lot of voters when it comes to the Republicans in state government,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “Voters don't like the process that led to it and they're starting to really take it out on Pat McCrory.”

PPP surveyed 600 North Carolina voters between July 12th and 14th. The margin of error for the survey is +/- 4.0%. This poll was not authorized or paid for by any campaign or political organization. PPP's surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
