Republican Tax Reform Proposals Unpopular

Raleigh, N.C.-PPP's latest North Carolina poll reveals that the Republican government is receiving poor marks. Although Pat McCrory's approval rating is 48% positive to 38% negative, 48% of North Carolinians disapprove of the Republican government to just 41% who approve. Republican legislators score even worse at 37% approval to 49% disapproval. The General Assembly overall gets a 25% positive rating to 51% negative and 24% unsure. At 38%-46%, Democrats have poor numbers, too. Voters believe by a 45% to 31% margin that the General Assembly is causing the state national embarrassment.

Specific Republican proposals are extremely unpopular. Voters oppose the House and Senate tax plans by 41%-11% and 44%-14%, respectively. When told the details of these plans, opposition soars to 68%-13% for the Senate's plan and 55%-21% for the House's. 81% of North Carolinians oppose raising the sales tax on groceries from 2% to 6.5%. Only 10% support it.

"Republicans may need to go back to the drawing board when it comes to tax reform," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "Both proposals that have been made in the legislature are pretty unpopular with the general public."

Republican attempts to roll back gun regulations are also unpopular. Respondents stated by a 73% to 17% margin that concealed weapons should not be allowed in bars. They oppose allowing concealed weapons in parks and on college campuses. Voters want to keep guns out of parks by a 65% to 29% margin and off of college campuses by 69% to 25%.

Environmental deregulation is no more popular. Voters think the General Assembly should encourage renewable energy use with incentives by a margin of 68% to 16%. 73% favor promoting renewable energy production to 14% who stand opposed. Repealing environmental protections at Jordan Lake is unpopular by a margin of 49%-14%.

Voters believe by 66% to 11% that it is inappropriate for Secretary of Public Safety Kieran Shanahan to keep doing work on the side for his private law clients while serving. Voters do think that doctors should be required to obtain parental permission before treating, testing or diagnosing minors for pregnancies, emotional or mental illnesses or sexually transmitted diseases. Probably out of confusion, 36% oppose a constitutional amendment that would repeal the literacy test for voting. 26% support such an amendment, and 36% of voters don't know what to make of it.

PPP surveyed 500 North Carolina voters from May 17-20, 2013. The margin of error was +/- 4.4%. This poll was not authorized or paid for by any campaign or political organization. PPP's surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews.
