Denish favored for Governor

Raleigh, N.C. – Lieutenant Governor Diane Denish starts out favored to keep the New Mexico Governor's office in Democratic hands, although it looks like it could be a close race between her and Pete Domenici Jr.

Denish leads the son of the state's long time Senator 45-40. She holds much wider margins against the rest of the Republican field- 48-30 over Allen Weh, 47-33 over Janice Arnold-Jones, and 46-32 against Susana Martinez and Doug Turner.

Denish's advantage comes in spite of significantly reduced popularity for Governor Bill Richardson. Only 28% of voters in the state approve of the job he's doing with 63% disapproving. His 22% approval with independents and 7% with Republicans is not unusual for a Democratic official these days, but he's even in negative territory within his own party at a 42/47 spread.

Denish is easily the best known of the Gubernatorial candidates with 75% of voters holding an opinion about her. They break down positively by a 41/34 margin. A plurality of voters has no opinion about each of the Republicans. Domenici is viewed favorably by 27%, followed by 17% for Martinez, 12% for Weh and Turner, and 8% for Arnold-Jones.

Although Barack Obama's approval has slipped into negative territory at 45/48, both of the state's Democratic Senators have solid 48/36 approval spreads.

"Given Obama and Richardson's low levels of popularity Diane Denish is doing pretty well," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "But a contest with Domenici certainly looks like it could be competitive."

PPP surveyed 990 New Mexico voters from February 18th to 20th. The survey's margin of error is +/-3.1%. Other factors, such as refusal to be interviewed and weighting, may introduce additional error that is more difficult to quantify.

Complete results are attached and can be found at www.publicpolicypolling.com.
