New Yorkers Wish They Had Spitzer Back

Raleigh, N.C. – Former New York Governor Eliot Spitzer, co-host of a so-far poorly rated new CNN primetime talk show, is equally disliked as his replacement and former Lieutenant Governor, David Paterson, but Empire State voters still think things would have been better off for the past two years had Spitzer stayed in office.

Spitzer has a negative 30-55 personal favorability rating, with Paterson's job approval mark exactly the same. Paterson is in the bottom third of the 31 governors PPP has polled in 2010—ten are less popular, but 20 are better liked. Spitzer, at 40-42 to Paterson's 30-53, is more popular with the two men's own party members, but Paterson has more favor across the aisle, at 27-64 to Spitzer's 18-72 among Republicans, and at 33-50 to Spitzer's 24-60 with independents.

But by a 45-28 margin, voters would have preferred Spitzer still be governor, despite the personal scandals that prompted his resignation. Though less liked with the GOP and unaffiliated voters, New York Republicans and independents evidently feel things are on such a bad track in the state that they still would have rather had Spitzer, albeit by narrow 37-34 and 38-33 margins. Democrats overwhelmingly choose Spitzer, 53-22.

In a list of national figures who are current or former New York elected officials, Hillary Clinton is the best liked, with a 59-36 favorability grade to Rudy Giuliani's 53-37, Mario Cuomo's 51-35, Michael Bloomberg's 43-37, and George Pataki's 39-37. Giuliani is by far the best liked among independents and with his own base, though Clinton is close behind with her base.

“Eliot Spitzer has been openly flirting with a possible future return to elective office, and he would probably fare well in a Democratic primary,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “But the numbers statewide are more an indication that New Yorkers overall would simply prefer anyone else to David Paterson than that they love Spitzer.”

PPP surveyed 592 likely New York voters from October 1st to 3rd. The survey's margin of error is +/-4.0%. Other factors, such as refusal to be interviewed and weighting, may introduce additional error that is more difficult to quantify.
