Gingrich, Allen, Cuccinelli lead GOP primaries

Raleigh, N.C. – You can add Virginia to the list of states where Newt Gingrich has a huge lead in the Republican Presidential race. He's at 41% there to 15% for Mitt Romney with no one else in double digits. Michele Bachmann and Rick Perry at 8%, Rick Santorum and Ron Paul at 6%, Jon Huntsman at 3%, and Gary Johnson at 1% round out the field.

This poll continues a trend PPP is finding of total dominance for Gingrich in the South. Last week he led a North Carolina poll by 37 points over Romney and two weeks ago PPP found him up by 30 points in Florida.

To have a lead this large requires broad support with the various different factions of the party, and Gingrich has it. For instance with Tea Party voters he leads Romney by 35 points, 46-11. But with non-Tea Party voters he's winning by almost as much, a 27 point margin at 43-16. He is also first with every gender and age group.

There continues to be very little appetite for a Tea Party challenge to George Allen in the Republican Senate race. 65% of primary voters think he's ideologically about 'right' and only 25% express support for a generic 'more conservative' alternative to him, compared to 53% think who he should be the party nominee.

Finally we took a very early look at the 2013 GOP primary for Governor and again find Ken Cuccinelli with a big early lead over Bill Bolling, 44-25. Both men are popular among Republican voters familiar with them but Cuccinelli is far better known with 73% of voters having an opinion about him to only 48% with one about Bolling.

“The Virginia Republican electorate is trending very conservative right now with its preference for Newt Gingrich, George Allen, and Ken Cuccinelli,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “It will be interesting to see how viable those guys end up being in a general election.”

PPP surveyed 350 Republican primary voters from December 11th to 13th. The margin of error for the survey is +/-5.2%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews. PPP is a Democratic polling company, but polling expert Nate Silver of the New York Times found that its surveys in 2010 actually exhibited a slight bias toward Republican candidates.
